Poetry.

How it Happened.

I pray you, pardon me, Elsie,
And smile that frown away
That dims the light of your lovely face
As a thunder-cloud the day.
I really could not help it,—
Before I thought, 'twas done,—
And those great gray eyes flashed bright and cold,
Like an icicle in the sun.

I was thinking of the Summers
When we were boys and girls,
And wandered in the blossoming woods,
And the gay winds romped with your curls.
And you seemed to me the same little girl
I kissed in the alder-path,
I kissed the little girl's lips, and alas!
I have roused a woman's wrath.

There is not so much to pardon,—
For why were your lips so red?
The blonde hair fell in a shower of gold
From the proud, provoking head.
And the beauty that flashed from the splendid eyes,
And played round the tender mouth,
Rushed over my soul like a warm sweet wind.
That blows from the fragrant south.

And where, after all is the harm done?
I believe we were made to be gay,
And all of youth not given to love
Is vainly squandered away.
And strewn through life's low labors,
Like gold in the desert stands,
Are love's swift kisses and sighs and vows
And the clasp of clinging hands.

And when you are old and lonely,
In Memory's magic shine
You will see on your thin and wasting hands,
Like gems these kisses of mine,
And when you muse at evening
At the sound of some vanished name,
The ghost of my kisses shall touch your lips
And kindle your heart to flame.

Selected Story.

Smith's New Clerk.

BY MARY GRACE HALPINE.

Jenkins met Smith, his senior partner, at the depot, who had been on a business tour.

"How's business?" inquired the latter.

"All right; got a new clerk."

"Got a new clerk, have you? Where's Jones?"

"Discharged him. An idle, extravagant, impudent young dog!"

"True enough; and the new one won't be any better. Drinking, gambling, late hours and fast horses—that's the way with 'em all."

And Smith groaned.

Jenkins' eyes twinkled. He well knew the peculiarities of his goodhearted, but eccentric bachelor partner.

"Well, the new clerk don't drink nor gamble, I'm quite certain of that; and has thus far been very industrious and attentive."

"Thus far? Oh, yes, wait a month. New brooms sweep clean."

"Oh, well, if the new clerk don't suit you, you can send the new clerk adrift, that's all. I only took her—ahem!—the new clerk, on trial."

"Oh, yes. Her—that is to say, the clerk's name is Gardner. But here we are."

As was his usual custon, Mr. Smith went through the store, past the array of clerks on either side of the counter, without glancing to the right or left. But when he reached his private office, at the further end, he looked through the glass door, which was so situated that he could see all that was going on in the store.

As his eyes fell on the occupant of a desk near the door, he started.

"What's that?" he exclaimed, turning sharply upon his partner, who had followed him.

Jenkins gazed very composedly upon the slender form, whose graceful head was bent intently over a ledger that lay open upon the desk before her.

"That? Why, that's our new clerk."

Smith rubbed his eyes and looked once more.

"Why, it's a woman!" he exclaimed, with an air of incredulity and horror.

"I should rather say it was," said Jenkins, coolly; "and a confounded pretty one at that."

Smith gave his partner a look of virtuous indignation.

"Mr. Jenkins, this is no place for a woman!"

"Think not? Now it strikes me that she fits the place very neatly."

"The proper place for a woman is in the sanctuary at home!"

This was rather a pet observation of Mr. Smith's, which he had read somewhere, and which he considered a clincher in any such argument.

"But suppose she hasn't any?"

That was a poser; and in his efforts to surmount it, Mr. Smith got excited.

"Hasn't any? Why, sir, she must—she ought to have one."

"Very true. In fact, so confident am I on that point, that I have some thoughts of offering her mine; or at least to share it with her."

"Mr. Jenkins, this is not a fit subject for jest!"

"It's a serious matter, I know; so, on the whole, perhaps I had better think it over a while longer. Besides, there is no knowing if she would accept my offer, together with the encumbrance that goes with it."

"Jenkins," returned Smith, severely, "will you cease trifling and attend to the business in hand? This woman must go."

"Very well. You told me you wanted a clerk that would be faithful and industrious; that didn't spend his salary, and all he could steal, on fast horses, and faster women; and I got you one. It's an easy matter to send her off."

"Of course it is," rejoined Smith, brightening at the suggestion. "Just tell her she don't suit, and that we shan't need her after to-day."

"But she does suit—me; and if you're not suited, all you've got to do is to tell her so."

"You hired her."

"And for that very reason I shall not discharge her unless I have some good cause."

"No matter," returned Smith, with an air of lofty indifference. "I can discharge her. I think I am equal to that much."

Jenkins, who had left the room, put his head back a moment later.

"Bet you a hundred dollars you don't do it."

With this parting shot he immediately disappeared.

Now, Smith had a nervous horror of women, as his partner well knew, especially of young women, and never spoke to one if he could help it.

Had it been a man he would know what to say, and experience no difficulty in saying it, but a woman was quite another thing.

But his partner's last words had touched his pride, and summoning all his resolution and courage, he opened the door and walked out.

But his courage failed him as he came opposite the desk where she sat, and he passed by glancing sideways at the unconscious occupant, who did not lift her head at his approach.

After speaking to a clerk at the further end of the room he walked slowly back to where the young lady sat, and who, as he paused by the desk, raised a pair of soft, blue eyes, shooting a swift, bewildering glance in Smith's that he felt to the toes of his boots.

"Miss—Miss," he stammered.

"My name is Georgiana," said the young lady, smiling. "Some call me George, for short."

"Well, Miss George—Georgiana. I'm afraid you find your situation rather unpleasant."

"Not at all, sir; on the contrary, I find it very pleasant and comfortable."

"Ahem! But I fear that you will hardly be equal to the discharge of its duties!"

"I hope not. If you will run your eye over the balance sheet you will find everything correct."

With desperate hope that there would be something amiss, Smith did so, but was disappointed.

"I hope you have no fault to find!" said the new clerk, a little anxiously, on perceiving that he hesitated.

"You are a woman—"

Here, whether abashed by the sudden display of dimples in the pink cheeks, that still grew more pink at this rather unnecessary announcement, Smith came to an abrupt pause.

At this, the smiling face settled into an expression of demure gravity.

"I must plead guilty to the charge of being a woman. But though it may be a misfortune, it can scarcely be called a fault, at any rate, it is one for which I am not answerable."

"You misunderstood me, ma'am. What I meant to say was, that there are certain duties connected with your office such as opening the store, going to the postoffice, etc., which you can not very well perform."

"I assure you, sir, that I shall like nothing better than an occasional walk in the open air. And as to opening the store, and sweeping and dusting; I don't know why it should be harder to perform that office for a store than for a house."

"I claim no consideration for my sex," resumed the young lady, casting a slightly reproachful glance at the perplexed countenance of her employer. "But I ask in common justice, if I perform my duties satisfactorily, that you will not discharge me, simply because I am a woman."

Muttering a disclaimer of some kind, he hardly knew what, Smith beat a sudden retreat to his own room, assuming a bold front as he met his partner's inquiring eye, but with an inward consciousness that he had been totally routed by the enemy.

"Going?" said Jenkins, with a provoking nonchalance.

"Well, no, not to-day. What the d—l are you grinning at?"

"Oh, nothing; nothing at all," responed Jenkins, throwing himself back in his chair, and regarding intently a fly upon the ceiling.

"What I was going to remark was," resumed Smith, with quite an unnecessary assumption of dignity, "that I have concluded to let the young lady remain until I can find some situation for her more in accordance with her sex."

"Very kind and considerate in you," said Jenkins, somewhat dryly; "especially taking into view that she does her work better than any clerk we ever had, and for less pay, too."

Smith was by no means the ogre he seemed to be. Aside from his prejudice, he was a sensible, kind-hearted man. Georgiana was not called upon to open the store, or to run on errands, though she had offered to do both.

Curious to relate, as days and weeks had passed, Smith's repugnance to her presence not only vanished with them, but he began to regard it with positive pleasure.

He used often to look through the glass door, watching the graceful poise of the head and the motions of the deft little fingers as they glided over the paper. Until at last, curious fancies seemed to creep through his brain, and he began to indulge in glowing dreams of how wonderfully such a little woman as that would brighten up his lonely and cheerless home.

But he determined to proceed cautiously. He had it. His housekeeper was about to leave; he would offer Miss Gardener the situation—and then?

Having formed this resolution, his next step was to request the young lady's presence in his private office, a summons that was promptly obeyed.

"Miss Gardener, don't you think the situation of housekeeper in a quiet home, like mine, for instance, would be preferable to your situation here?"

"Perhaps in some respects it might," said Georgiana, coloring at this abrupt inquiry and the look that accompanied it.

"Was the old gentleman about to make her the offer?

But his next words relieved her of this apprehension.

"My housekeeper is about to leave me, and I should be very glad to have you take her place."

Georgiana's cheeks grew red, and her mouth dimpled with the smiles she strove to suppress.

"You are very kind, sir, but the fact is Mr. Jenkins has spoken to me first.

"Mr. Jenkins?"

"Yes, sir, He asked me to be his housekeeper, and I told him that I would."

"But, my child, Mr. Jenkins is a young man; it would hardly be proper for you to keep house for him. Now with me it is different."

And Georgiana inwardly agreed with him. In fact there was all the difference in the world to her.

"But he has asked me to be his wife as well as housekeeper."

"O-o-o-h!"

Smith's first feeling was that of intense astonishment, his next, of quite as strong chagrin. But it all ended in an emotion of thankfulness that he had not committed himself.

But his disappointment could not have rankled very deep, for he attended the wedding, viewing with silent tranquility the ceremony that transformed his new clerk into the happy wife of his fortunate partner, Jenkins.

Miscellaneous.

The Military Movement of Gov. Holden.

LETTER OF HON. J. C. ABOTT.

Wilmington, N. C., July 8, 1871.

Hon. JOHN POOL:

Dear Sir—After reading your "Address to the people of North Carolina," it strikes me that justice to yourself, Governor Holden, and others called for a more extended and specific notice of the military movement last summer, and of the gross assaults that have been made by the press upon yourself and all connected with it. Mr. Badger's statement was so different from anything I had heard that it surprised me.

From the time when I was informed as to the organization and purposes of certain persons in the State of North Carolina known generally as the Ku-Klux Klan, I thought it the duty of the State government to adopt decisive measures. I was present at many of the consultations, at Raleigh and Washington, between the President, Governor Holden, yourself, and others, and believing, as I now believe, that there was to be an honest attempt, within the law to protect life and property, and to secure freedom of political opinion and action, I concurred entirely as to the propriety and necessity of the proposed measures.

During all these consultations I never heard from yourself, or any one else therein engaged, any advice or any intimation of a purpose to threaten those who might be arrested with violence. The atrocious suggestion attributed to yourself must, if uttered in my presence, have made an impression on my mind so strong that I would, I am sure, have remembered it and if it had been made at all it is very strange that it did not reach my ears.

Nor did I ever hear any purpose expressed of arresting any particular individual, but only a general purpose to make such arrests as evidence competent for arrest might justify.

There was, indeed, apprehension that the necessarily small force of the State militia would be overcome by the superior force of the Ku Klux Klan, as had been the case in the State of Arkansas, and that a select force of resolute men was necessary to meet such an emergency; and no resort to violence was ever intimated except in such an event.

Very respectfully,

JOSEPH C. ABBOTT.

Washington, July 10th, 1871.

Hon. JOSEPH C. ABBOTT:

Dear Sir: Yours of the 8th instant has been received. A publication of this answer will supply what you seem to consider a defect in my recent address to the people of North Carolina. It seemed to me improper to encumber with personal matters the discussion of the grave and threatening situation in which our State is now placed.

I was astonished to learn from Mr. Badger's statement that he received such impressions from the conversation to which he alludes. I find no other one of the several gentlemen present who so misunderstood me. He is clearly mistaken as to my views upon one or two of the main propositions discussed. I was not aware that it was a formal meeting for any purpose, and suppose it, but a loose, general conversation on the subject. With indifferent persons constantly coming and going, in a public office, in business hours, I do not see how it could be regarded otherwise by any one. I consulted privately while in Raleigh, and at different times afterwards and elsewhere, with several prominent gentlemen, in official position and otherwise, on the subject, and I think no one of them misunderstood my views as to the course that ought to be taken.

But as you seem to think that I ought to make a statement about the matter, I will notice some of the absurd charges that have appeared in the newspapers, as far as I can recollect them, to wit:

First: That I advised the arrest of certain men by name.

This is totally false. And I further say that I never knew or heard intimated the name of a single individual intended to be arrested until after the arrest was made. I never heard the purpose intimated nor the advice given to arrest any one, unless there should be found proof of crime against him.

Second: That I advised the murder of those arrested.

I do not believe that any one who knows me can credit so absurd and infamous a charge. I never heard of such advice being given from any source, nor any intimation of the kind. You state you never heard of such a thing, and Governor Holden is positive, as he assures me, that no such advise ever came to his ears. There were often very violent expressions of indignation and horror at the barbarous outrages reported to have been committed, and against the perpetrators. But no one ever supposed that such excited expressions were meant as sober advice for official action. Indeed, it was advised on all hands that the law be carefully observed and enforced. The whole purpose was to supply the continued failure of the local authorities to investigate the crimes, detect the perpetrators and hold them for trial in the regular courts of justice. This was urged as the solemn duty of the State government, and to prevent the necessity and certainty of Federal interference, should it be much longer neglected

Third, That I advised trials by court martial.

I never heard that such a thing was thought of until several months after the arrests were made, and I then believed it to be without the shadow of foundation, until Governor Holden announced that he did contemplate for a time to authorize certain officers with the militia to take, in writing, the testimony of the witnesses on the spot for the information of the solicitors and grand juries at court. I supposed this was to be done by some judge of the Superior Court accompanying the militia, and that the militia was raised to aid and protect the judge in his investigations in the disturbed localities. Perhaps discreet magistrates, or other officers specially charged with the duty, might have performed it well enough; but I was never aware until afterwards that such a course was contemplated or suggested.

Fourth That I advised suspension of habeas corpus.

My advice was directly to the contrary; and that was one reason why I thought a judge of the Superior Court should be sent to authorize the arrests, conduct the examinations, and commit the parties. I was not consulted in regard to the delay in obeying the writ. If it had appeared to me as the Governor stated it did to him and others, that a general rising of the organized bands of marauders was planned to take place on the eve of the election to outrage voters and keep them from the polls, and that general disorder and bloodshed in the State was imminent, I should probably have acquiesced in the general opinion that such assumption of responsibility by the Executive was an act of patriotic duty and of devotion to the peace and honor of the State and to the protection of its peaceable citizens. Such delay could not properly extend beyond the extreme imminence of the public danger, nor beyond such time as might be absolutely requisite to guard against it in some other way. It does not appear to me that the Governor went beyond this.

Much has been said of the course of Governor Clayton, of Arkansas, (now United States Senator.) The Ku Klux Klan resisted his militia openly, in armed array. A conflict ensued, in which many of them were killed and some of the militia.

It was feared that the State militia would be thus attacked in North Carolina, and by a greatly superior force. It was only in contemplation of such an event that the course pursued in Arkansas was referred to. With this view, the selection of resolute and reliable officers and men was deemed important. I advised most earnestly the selection of Col. Clarke to command the force. I recollect to have suggested, on one occasion, as one of the captains, Mr. Lindsay. I am amused at the absurb stories which have been paraded in some of the newspapers that he is of a desperate and lawless character. He was an earnest and resolute Confederate, and was a State Senator in 1864. He is now an earnest supporter of the reconstruction policy of the Government, and much opposed to the lawlessness and violence prevalent in the State. He has never been considered, by those who know him, as possessing any such character as is attributed to him by the Ku Klux newspapers.

I never heard Colonel Kirk suggested until after he was commissioned, and had never heard of Colonel Bergin. The fitness of selecting both a Confederate Colonel and a Colonel of the Union army, both of whom had commanded North Carolina troops during the rebellion, I suppose, influenced Gov. Holden in the selection. It is a gratifying fact that no blood was shed by the military movement, and no man permanently or seriously injured by accident or otherwise. The organized bands which the force was meant to suppress have committed murders, innumerable scourgings and other outrages of the most inhuman and shocking character. Scarcely one of them has been brought to punishment or trial, and the State's prisons have been crowded and relieved. The popular indignation against Governor Holden, raised in certain quarters, has been extreme and unprecedented. But any effort to expose the perpetrators of the Ku Klux outrages and raise popular indignation against them has been denounced in the same quarters and met with denials as long as denials be made respectable, and then palliations suggested, and resort had to every pretext, to slander of the victims, attacks upon officers of the law, and even the judiciary, in order to divert public attention and shield the criminals. In this wild and disgraceful clamor the Governor of the State has been sacrificed to lawlessness under the mockery of legal forms, the judges threatened with impeachment for sustaining his efforts to uphold the laws and protect the peace and good order of society: and, finally, the Constitution boldly defied for the purpose of opening the way for those who have led those violent and disgraceful proceedings to seize upon the Government in all its branches.

While the Governor of the State, really guiltless, has been made to feel the extreme penalty of the law, not a single Ku-Klux can be brought to justice. The grand jury of the county of Orange has been swift to indict Governor Holden, but they refuse to find a single bill for six or eight murders and scores of midnight scourgings and other outrages committed, with public notoriety, within the body of their county, and even at the very county seat.

This is a remarkable condition of affairs for North Carolina. It is impossible to deceive the country as to where the responsibility rests. The people of our State are not in sympathy with these things. They owe it to the character and honor of the State to rise up in every locality and express the public indignation and compel the execution of the laws upon every class of offenders. The great body of our people are proverbially orderly, honest, and averse to violence. The have been slow to believ

A LAST WORD.

This is the last appeal we can make before the election. Loving this grand Old North State; identified with her in all our interests, and feeling that our future is wrapped up in her destiny, we have tried to do our duty as a good citizen and a faithful journalist in the important canvas just closing.

We desire that this State shall take the place among the sister States to which her geographical position and natural advantages entitle her to occupy. But this cannot be while [illegible] strife run rampant, nor can she ever make progress foward on the high road of prosperity if the precedent becomes established that her organic law can be changed at the beck of mere patisan majorities.

Fully realizing this we have felt it to be our duty to raise our voice against the revolutionary attempts of the restless politicians to over turn the State Government, for a change of Constitution at this time and in the manner proposed aims to do this. The result must be, if successful, confusion, revolution and anarchy. We are not prepared for this: the people are not prepared for it.

We want peace. The State needs it. Every interest is suffering because the Democratic leaders deny us this boon. Let the people take the matter in their own hands and settle it on Thursday next by voting NO CONVENTION, thus giving the politicians to understand that they cannot rule, and the citizens of the other States to see that North Carolina is in favor of peace, order and law. Then these blessings will be ours—safe, secure and enduring.

HON. JOHN POOL.

Last week we published the timely and patriotic Address of Senator POOL to the people of this State. No man understands our wants, our necessities, and our dangers better than he. As in perilous times of the past, he gives counsel and he gives warning. Had these been wisely heeded then, many of the bitter cups we, as a people, have been obliged to drink might have passed our lips untasted. Let us be wise now. Grave dangers again threaten us. Let us avert them.

This week we publish another letter from Mr. POOL, vindicating himself from the malicious personal slanders hesped upon him by a prostituted press and the unscrupulous leaders of the Democracy. In due time we knew he would do this. The letter will be found on our first page. Read it.

JOHN POOL has always been a strong man in North Carolina. He has ever had the confidence of her people. He has always been true to them and they know it. He has labored as no other man has done for their best interests. He never will forsake them. And he is one of the ablest men in the State, aye, in the South. He has already made a national reputation. With clear intellect, bright perceptions, high character, and firmly devoted to the Union, he not only stands head and shoulders above his traducers, but he is recognized at the National Capitol as the leading representative man of the Southern States.

Remember that a Convention, if called, will hold that it has full, absolute and supreme power over the whole organic law of the State. It will claim the right to make a new Constitution from the first article to the last. Let the people beware.

Vote against Convention and save your Homesteads.

CAN A CONVENTION REDUCE TAXATION?

The public debt of the State must be paid, or it must be repudiated. If a Convention be called, provision must be made to pay the interest on the public debt, or the debt itself must be repudiated. If provision is to be made for the payment of the debt, taxes will be larger after the Convention meets than now, because our people will not only have to meet their present obligations, but the additional burden which the expense of the Convention will impose.

It is evident, then, that the only way to reduce taxation is to repudiate the public debt. The Constitution of the United States provides that "no State shall pass a law impairing the obligation of contracts." Under an oath to support the Constitution of the United States the members of the Convention could not repudiate the public debt. They cannot reduce taxation without doing so. Therefore when advocates of the Convention promise to reduce taxation they mean to do so by repudiation. The Constitution of the United States forbids repudiation. They must therefore secede before they can repudiate. Secession alone can reduce taxation. Do the people prefer to pay their taxes, or to secede and go through another war?

A WARNING TO POOR MEN.

Poor men of North Carolina! is it not true that the leading Democrats of the State are the chief creditors of the smaller land-holders and laborers? Is not this the reason why they so vehemently advocate a Convention? The fact that the beneficent Homestead article in the Constitution having been decided retrospective in its character makes those rich men anxious to get a Supreme Court that will declare this Article to be ex post facto, and consequently unconstitutional. It is the poor men—the small land holders and laborers of North Carolina these men are after. They either want this feature of the Constitution changed, or a Supreme Court that will decide in their favor. Do not be deceived.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE.—The August number of this excellent monthly is at hand; and in consideration of the summer weather, probably, shows a larger proportion than usual of light and entertaining articles. The heaviest on the list is a brilliant and suggestive essay on the "Downfael of Bonaparteism," and this is followed by a burlesque poem entitled "Platonic Paradoxes," "An Escape from the Prisons of the Piombi," "An African Harem," "Nathaniel Hawthorne," "English Republicanism," "Herschel as a Music Master," "Life in Mars" "Curiosities of Criticism," "The Dutchman at Home," "Aphasia," "A New American Poet," and several others. "Patty" is brought nearly to a close, and the editorial departments are unusually full.

[illegible] vote in the Convention election, must vote in the Township where he resides.

He must be registered on the registration books of his Township before he can vote.

He must have resided ten days before the election in his Township.

He must vote a separate ticket for Convention or No Convention, and he must vote a separate ticket for the candidate or candidates, and these tickets must be put in separate boxes.

It is a mistake that the voter must have resided ninety days in his Township before he can vote. Ten days is all that is required by law. It is only in some municipal elections that a ninety days residence is required.

Never before has the Republican Party assumed a nobler aspect than it does to day. The champion of constitutional freedom, it is also the guardian of the rights of person and of property. No citizen who wishes to worship God safely "under his own vine and fig tree, with none to molest and make him afraid;" who expect to enjoy the wages of his labor, or to possess in peace the property earned by honest enterprize, will support a party controlled by the men who began the rebellion, and who to day are advocating revolution.

The Democrats in the last campaign rung the changes on high taxes, and they pledged themselves to "economy, retrenchment and reform." How did they redeem these pledges? Under the Republican rule our taxes did not exceed 35 cents on the $100. worth. Under Democratic rule it has been raised to 52 cents on the $100, worth. Isn't this reform with a vengeance?

Poor men of North Carolina—you that have but humble homes and small farms, remember that if you let Convention be carried you will have no cause to complain when the Sheriff levies on and sells you out of both for debt.

The lightning appears to be unusually destructive throughout the country this season, and the same must be said of the wind. Last year was the year of drought and heat; this year is the year of tornadoes.

Gov. VANCE, much to the chagrin of the Conventionists, refuses to take the stump in its favor. Last spring, when the matter was being discussed in the legislature, he said that he thought the Convention useless and uncessary, and the whole thing a humbug.

Republicanism in the United States is the symbol of economy, public faith, and civilization. Its candidates are pledged to all these fundamental ideas, and no citizen who desires to see them maintained will vote against these candidates.

Remember that the present Convention movement originated with a bare majority of the Legislative branch of the State Government and in opposition to the Executive and Judiciary of the State.

The Legislature can neither limit, bind or restrict delegates to a Convention.

The Conventionists try to quiet the fears of the poople by telling them that the Convention will be restricted. Be not deceived. Legislatures cannot restrict Conventions.

Friends of Constitutional liberty buckle on your armor—the ballot—and march to the polls on Thursday next and vote "No Convention."

"Bragg" on Convention may be good, but "hold fast" to what you have, homestead and all, is better.

Correspondence.

Martin County Against Convention.

In accordance with notice previously given the Republicans of Martin assembled at the Court House, in Williamston on Saturday, the 15th of July, for the purpose of placing before the people a candidate for "No Convention" in the coming election.

The meeting was called to order by appointing J. M. Siterson as chairman, who explained the object of the meeting in a few appropriate remarks, and requested Peter Hassel to act as Secretary.

The Chairman having ascertained that all the Townships were represented, appointed Alfred Johnson, Luke Williams, Mosct Hodges, McGilbrey Swan and Fred. Staton from Hamilton Township, and Meric Grey, Jos. J. Martin, John A. Long, T. A. Ray and Joshua Respass from Williamston Towuship, and Andrew Powell, Milles Moore, Putnam Sheppard, Joseph Tyrre, and Adolphus Reddick from Jamesville Township as a Committe to select the nominee and report suitable resolutions.

The Committee as above selected retired and in a short time returned and reported the name of W. W. Moore as a suitable person to represent the Republicans of Martin in the so called Convention.

This nomination on motion of John Watts was made unanimous.

The following Preambles and Resolutions were reported by the Committee and unanimously adopted.

Whereas, The people of the State are called upon to vote, on the 4th Thursday in August next for a Convention to change the present Constitution. It is therefore resolved,

1. That we the Republicans of Martin are unalterably opposed to the calling of said Conventioo as being revolutionary, unecessary, illegal and unwise.

2. That we believe it to be the interest of the poor man to vote down this Convention because in voting for it they jeopardize the dearest rights of themselves and their families.

3. That we heartly endorse the administration of Gov. Caldwell as being wise, prudent and Statesmanlike.

4. That we endorse the nomination of W. W. Moore, Esq., as our standard bearer for Martin County, and pledge him our united support.

5. Resolved, That a copy of these paoceedings be sent to the Williamston Expositor and North Carolinian and Era with a request that they publish the same.

PETER HASSELL, Secretary.

Camden says No Convention.

At an Anti-Convention meeting of the Citizens of Camden county held at the Court House on the 21st inst, Thomas Garrott was called on to preside and Nelson Proctor to act as Secretary.

[illegible] Committee to draft Resolutions expressive of the sense of this meeting upon the subject of the proposed Convention.

The Committee retired and the meeting called upon Hon. C. L. Cobb for an address. In answer to the call—he came forward and delivered an able speech against the Convention. His arguments were pointed and unanswerable, and made a good and convincing impression upon the meeting—after the close of this speech the Committee reported the following Resolutions.

WHEREAS, We believe that the Act of the last Legislature subnitting to the people of this State, the call of a Convention by a bare majority is contrary to law and Revolutionary, therefore:

Resolved, That we will unite our efforts to vote down said Convention.

Resolved, That we pledge ourselves to exert our influence in convincing our fellow-citizens of the threatened danger, and urge upon them to unite with us to defeat the illegal and unconstitutional Convention Act.

Resolved, That the Anti-Convention men of this County, have full confidence and faith in the honor, integrity and ability of our fellow-citizen, W. J. Morrisett, Esq., and that we endorse him and recommend him to the support of all law—abiding citizens of this County and pledge him our undivided support.

On motion, the Resolutions were unanimously adopted—after which the meeting called upon Capt. C. W. Grandy, Jr., for a speech—he came forward and took the stand, and made a speech of nearly three hours in which he exposed the Convention scheme—showing the objects of the Legislature in passing the Convention Act was to deprive the masses of suffrage and take possession of the State government; after Capt. Grandy closed his speech, Col. Lindsey was loudly called for to make a speech.

The Col. answered in one of his happy efforts, and called upon the old Whigs of Camden county to come out of the ranks of the Democratic party, and rally upon the side of law and order—and against Revolution and anarchy. Col. L. gave a short history of Mr. Chamberlain, the Representative of this County and C. C. Williams, Esq., the Democratic Candidate for Convention greatly to their discomfiture.

On motion the following gentlemen, we appointed Executive Committee of this County, A. P. Cherry, Chairman, Nelson Proctor John Mitchell, Allen Trotman, Z. M. Berry, Harrison Kight and Matchet Taylor.

On motion, it was ordered that the Secretary furnish the Editor of the North Carolinan, a copy of these proceedings and that he be requested to publish the same.

Currituck speaks against Convention.

At a meeting of the Citizens of Currituck county opposed to Convention held at the Court House, on the 19th inst. James H. Ferebee was called to the chair and John Sampson appointed Secretary.

On motion a Committee was appointed by the Chairman to draft Resolutions expressive of the wishes of this meeting relative to the Convention question.

After the Committee retired to perform their duties, Hon. C. L. Cobb was called upon to speak on the subject of Convention. He took the stand, and in a speech of over an hour made one of the most powerful arguments ever heard on the subject, convincing every man, that this Convention scheme of the Legislature is illegal unconstitutional Revolutionary and void. Mr. Cobb's effort was an honor to himself and the cause. After which the Committee retired and reported the following resolutions.

Resolved, That the Anti-Convention men of this County are opposed to the Convention scheme of the last Legislature of North Carolina in submitting to the people of the State, by a bare majority of that body a call for a Convention—as we believe that is not the legal way to call a Convention, and we pledge ourselves to vote down the same as far as we have the power to do so.

Resolved. That we have full faith and confidence in the honor integrity and ability of our fellow-citizen, Thomas C. Humphries, Esq., and we endorse, and recommend him to the support and confidence of all law-abiding citizens of this County and pledge him our undivided support.

On motion, these Resolutions were unanimously adopted after which Col. D. McD. Lindsey was called on, to address the meeting—the Col. answered the call in a speech of an hour and a half in which he exposed the Convention measure of the Legislature—his position was bold argument good and unanswerable—convincing the people that it is to their interest to vote down the Convention. The Col. is doing much good in this County in sustaining law and order.

On motion the following gentlemen will appointed Executive Committee for this County.

J. H. Ferebee, Chairman, Thos. G. Munden, John Lindsey, W. A. Powers, Wm. S. Harrison, James Thomas.

On motion it was ordered that the Secretary of this meetlng furnish a copy of these proceedings to the Editor of the North Carolinan and request him to publish the same. On motion the meeting adjourned.

It is announced in London that Mr. Gladstone will abolish the Army purchrse system by royal warrant. Two persons were killed, and 30 wounded, by a railroad accident near Chesterfield. JULY 21st.—Queen Victoria has revoked the royal decree establishing the purchase system in the British army. An election riot is imminent in Monaghan, Ireland. [illegible] Assembly has decided in favor of the imposition of a stamp duty on bills. Election meetings are prohibited in Paris. The town of Moca, in Santo Domingo, has rebelled against Baez.

JULY 22nd.—The Queen's warrant, abolishing the Purchase sysrem in the British army, has been laid before the House of Commons. A new Cabinet has been formed in Spain. The Prussians are contracting their limits in France. It is reported that the Orleans Princes have resigned their seats in the Assembly. A European Conference, to agree on a system of import duties, will shortly be held. The cholera is spreading in Persia. A Cuban expedition is organizing in Montreal.

The Danger.

All of the Judges in the State hold the present convention law to be unconstitutional. It was also held to be unconstitutional by most of the lawyers and statesmen of the past age—by such men as Gaston, Ruffin, Meares, Biggs and Fisher. In view of all this who doubts what the decision of the Federal government will be, should it be called upon to decide? And if the convention meets and turns out all of the present State officers—and this is one of the principle objects for which it is called—the Federal authorities will be called upon to decide. For the present officers will still claim to be the government, and will call upon the President to recognize them as such, under the authority delegated to him by the Act of 1795. For this course they have the precedent of Gov. King and his officers, against Dorr and his followers in 1844. What then becomes of the work of the convention for which you are called you to vote? It will be scattered to the four winds, and all the money expended upon it will be forever lost to the people of North Carolina. The worst of human passions will also be aroused, and the return of peace and good feeling will be long retarded. Will the calm and peace loving people of the country vote for the convention under these circumstances?

THE OTHER DANGER.

To escape the above danger we have heard it proposed to let the present Government and Supreme Court Judges remain. What is to be gained by such a course? Nothing at all! For some one of the minor officers, some Judge or Clerk of the Superior Courts, will then test the question of the constitutionality of the convention law before the Supreme Court of the State. Another Hoke and Henderson case will be the result, and no one can doubt how the Court will decide. It will decide that, in the language of the great and learned Ruffin, the convention was "an unauthorized body, and therefore, no more than a voluntary collection of so many men"—"that its acts being void could derive no confirmation from a vote of the people." So in either event the whole work of the convention will be set aside, and all the money expended upon it will be added to the taxes of the people, already overburdened with taxation. Let the people ponder these things well, for they are the words of truth and soberness. If they would escape trouble let them vote against the present unconstitutional convention, and wait for the call of a constitutional one. They will not have to wait very long, and in the mean time several important amendments can be cheaply and safely made by the legislative mode.—Old North State.

The Washington Republican asks: "What is the matter with the Potomac water?" The Louisville Courier answers: "Nothing, except that it is used for washing purposes by a very dirty administration." As Democrats never wash, the sanitary advantages that would accrue to the Washington people from a change in the Government are obvious.

Senator Pool.

We print to-day the well-timed address of our distinguished Senator to the people of the State. Of course it is received by the revolutionists, who are now attempting to hound the people into another rebellion, with howls of rage. No man has been more heartily abused by the Ku Klux press of the State than has Senator Pool, and no man, in our knowledge, has ever exceeded his calm, dignified and appropriate behavior through all the persecution that has been heaped upon him. The silent contempt with which he has regarded the snarls of the slanderous rebels who have sought to provoke him into recrimination, has been eminently proper and becoming one who adorns the distinguished position and walks in the high paths to which a loyal and devoted constituency have so worthily elected him.

Every word of dishonor and censure in the English language, together with all the billingsgate slime and filth of disappointed and maddened Ku Klux, and the more courtly phrases of the better educated but meaner hearted leaders of that murdering party, have been hurled at him, only to fall harmlessly at his feet. He stands forth to-day more beloved by his constituents, and ten fold more dear to them, than before he waded through these fires of persecution and raised his voice and reached forth his arm in the Senate of the nation, that the poor, humble and down-trodden might have protection by the loyal hand of the government from murder, rapine and scourging. Call him the author of the Ku Kulx Bill, if they like; it is an honor. As long as the Republic lives, and day by day as it advances on the high road of progress, prosperity and loyalty, will his name, and the names of his associates who stood by him in that hour when the assembled wisdom of the county was called on to witness the vile wrongs and cowardly deeds perpetrated on its only friends in the South by the traitors whom they had so lately put to flight in open, manly warfare, be revered in the memory of the just and good and patriotic.

The impotent rage of desperate rebels need not and dare not disturb him. Not him alone, but any and all others who stand up for their country, meet the same unmerited and unsparing villification and slander. Of course nothing short of the utter destruction and despoliation of the land can be expected to please its enemies.

We invite the attention of the reader to the address. It is full of good counsel and wholesome advice, and replete with words of choicest wisdom, which it were well to heed in this hour of excitement and partisan rage. His is the language of one who knows whereof he speaks. Direct from the national Capital, where he is in a position to understand the feeling of the General Government toward the revolutionary proposition now being discussed in North Carolina, he utters words of warning in a manner not to be misunderstood, and which well deserves the attention of those who may yet claim the good offices of the man whom they have so foully abused to save them from ignominy and shame.

Senator Pool is not unknown to the people of this State. For a long time the trusted leader of the old Whig party of North Carolina, and of the men who have so industriously sought to cover his name with obloquy and reproach, in that memorable campaign for Bell and Everett, when he bore so gallantly the banner of the Union through the spirited gubernatorial canvass of 1860, his potent voice was raised then in warning against the horrors of rebellion, and side by side, shoulder to shoulder, some of these same apostates stood and battled for the right. Since then (sorry was the day) they have "gone after strange Gods," but the voice of the champion who rallied the hosts to the music of the Union, still rings out clear in no mistaken sound, and like an echo of the past, utters the slogan of the "Union, the Constitution, and the Enforcement of the Laws!"—Ashville Pioneer.

The Attitude of the Government.

In relation to the probable action of the government of the United States, in case of a contest between two State governments in this State, the Attorney General of the United States said, at Weldon, on Saturday week:

"I have been asked in case the proposed Convention should assemble and provide a new government for the State, and the present government should refuse to be displaced, and a collision should arise between the two, which one would the government of the United States maintain. I cannot answer. I cannot undertake to say what will be the mind of Congress, or of the President of the United States, in that unhappy emergency. I will remiud you however, that the Supreme Court of the United States, has "pronounced through the mouth of Judge Taney" that it lays with Congress to decide what government is the established one in a State. Luther vs. Borden, 7 Howard 42, and I will express the opinion that Congress having provided in 1867 for the establishment of a lawful government in North Carolina, through the action of her own people, having afterwards approved the Constitution, which her people ratified by a large majority, having recognized the credentials of that government, in admitting members from North Carolina to seats, will not suffer that government to be overturned in 1871, except by proceedings that are strictly according to law. I will also remind you, that the same Court has decided in the same case, that when a call is made on the President to protect a State against domestic violence, growing out of such a collision, it is his duty, under the law which Congress has made, to determine which party is the lawful government, and which party is insurgent; and it is my opinion, that the present national executive, finding two so-called governments in the field, would uphold that one of them which Congress had recognized, unless it be found, that it had been lawfully superceded by the other.

POLL TAX.—Before the adoption of the present Constitntion, poll-tax in some of the counties was five dollars; in other counties as high as nine dollars. The people have surely not forgotten this. This Constitution forbids it to exceed two dollars. In slave times, when the government was controlled by the aristocracy, they took the tax off of their own property, and put it on the poor man's head. And because they are now forbidden to do this, they howl about taxation, and have the impertinence to endeavor to coax the poor men to vote with them for Convention, so that they may restore their unlimited power of captation taxation. Don't the people see the drift of things?—Pioner.

The Weldon News says: Lt. J. M. Foote is now engaged in cleaning out obstructions in the Roanoke at Jamesville and between that point and Plymouth. There are in the stream in that locality several sunken vessels and barges, and their removal is necessary to easy navigation of the river. The contract for cleaning out the rocks at this place has not yet been awarded, but we are assured that it is Col. Craighill's intention to prosecute the entire cleaning out of the river.

One reason that the world is not reformed is, because every one would have others make a beginning, and thinks not of himself.

It is thought that the supply of peaches from North Carolina this year will exceed four millton baskets.

A contract has been made in San Francisco to send 600 Chinese laborers to the public works of Peru.

On the 22nd there was a white frost at the White Sulphur Springsin West Virginia. Shawls and overcoats were in demand.

Galveston, July 22.—The first bale of new cotton was received to-day by express, from Columbus, Texas, and was consigned to Focke & Wilkins.

A Methodist church, built of brick, in Virginia City, Nev., fell on Sunday night, and is a heap of ruins. A house adjoining was crushed, but no lives were lost. The church cost 75,000.

A terrific typhoon visited Hiogo, Japan, recently. Seven steamers were driven ashore or sunk. The place was inundated, and suffered considerably injury.

John Shipman voted for every President we have ever had, voted twice for Washington and Abraham Lincoln, and, in his 100th year, died at Springfield, Vt., the other day.

The Grand Jury system has been abolished in Wisconsin. A dozen years ago this was agitated, and only consummated now. Good arguments can be produced to prove that Grand Juries are useless appendages of our Courts.

The cowardly and the inactive lie in the ditch where they fall, or under the ruins that crush them. But the hopeful and energetic are soon to their feet again, moving once more toward the goal of success, and more cautiously than before.

A county newspaper, which recently spoke of "buttered thunder," and was asked by a contemporary if that had any affinity to "greased lightning," manifested some anger in explaining that muttered thunder was what was intended.

A woman in Albany, who has been made insane by her husband's cruel desertion of her, on Saturday seized one of her twin infants, and rushing into the street threw it as far as she could from her on the pavement. The child was much bruised, but not seriously injured. The woman has been taken to an asylum.

There has been some commotion among Ku-Klux Klan in Kentucky, and one of the band has turned State's evidence. He testifies as to the number of some of the gangs and the doinys thereof, nine of them being before the United States Commissioner at Louisville. The case is likely to prove an interestine one, and, if the witness is not "Ku-Kluxed" before a formal trial can be had, it is possible that some curious development may come out.

Some years ago, in one of our Western courts, three men—an Englishman, an Irishman, and a Scotchman—were found guilty and sentenced to be hung. The Judge told them they could each choose the tree on which they would like to be "strung up." The Scotchman promptly chose an ash tree, and the Englishman an oak tree. "Well, Pat, what will you be hung on?" asked the Judge. "If it please your honor. I'd rather be hung on a gosseberry bush." "Oh!" said the Judge, "that's not big enough." "Begorry, thin," replied Pat, brightening up, "I'll wait till it grows."

Attorney-General Akerman first came to the notice of Gen. Grant as State Agent of Georgia in Washington. One day, when he had finished some business in the Executive Office, the President said, animatedly, "I like that man, and as soon as a place is open in his State I mean to make him District-Attorney." The time came, and the office was bestowed. In the pursuit of his new duties, the President heard that Mr. Akerman had been refused lodging in a Southern city because of his Republicanism, and that the Court had to be adjourned in consequence. When Mr. Hoar resigned, Mr. Akreman was nominated, entirely without his knowledge, and was at his remote country home a week before the news reached him. Mr. Akreman was born in New-Hampshire, and, long before the war, settled in North Carolina, and for a time taught school, but afterward pushed on into Georgia, where the Rebellion found him.

☞ Our market is overstocked with watermelons.

☞ The new bridge over Charles Creek is nearly completed.

☞ The weather the past week has been decidedly cool—cooler than known in this locality for years. The thermometer was down to 62° on the 22nd.

☞ On Sunday night JOHN TURNER, colored, broke jail by cutting a hole through the upper floor and letting himself down from the upper window. He was sentenced at last term to five years in the Penetentiary, and the Sheriff was awaiting the order from Raleigh to take him up.

☞ The Republicans of Elizabeth City township held their nominating Convention Monday evening in the Court House. There was a full attendance. The ticket nominated appears at the head of our local column. Able and telling speeches were made by Wm. H. SMITH, Esq., Hon. C. L. COBB and Capt. C. W. GRANDY. The meeting was enthusiastic. See proceedings in another part of this issue.

☞ Hon. C. L. COBB is making a vigorous canvas against Convention, doing yeoman service in the cause of the people against the selfish politicians. We hear Mr. COBB's efforts everywhere spoken of in the highest terms. He thoroughly understands the question, is clear, pointed and logical in his arguments, and, being identified with the masses, they have full confidence in him.

☞ We are not in the habit of indulging in fulsome adulation of public men. Sometimes our friends feel that we are too chary in this respect, but we prefer to err on the side of saying too little to that of over doing the matter by saying too much. We never could play the role of the sycophant, and we are often pained to see the members of our profession indulging in indiscriminate flattery. Its tendency is to make newspaper praise too cheap. In all our notices, criticisms and reviews we try to be fair, frank and just. In this respect we think the sin of omission less reprehensible than that of commission.

☞ We like enterprize and we like live men. We feel that both should be encouraged. Of this class is our townsman Capt. JOHN S. WAUGH. From a small beginning he has built up a good business in his line, and he has accomplished it by enterprize, pluck and industry. We paid his establishment a visit a few days ago and we were pleased to see the excellent work he is doing. He is putting up some Carriages and Buggies that will compare with any we see in the first class shops of the North. Go and see them.

☞ It does make a great difference to some men whose ox is gored. Let their editor "pitch into" a political opponent and it is not only right and proper but it affords them excellent sport. The severer it is done the more hugely they enjoy it. But let the case be reversed and one of their "set" be the subject animadverted on—be it ever so tenderly—and the editor is "personal," has transcended "the limits of courtesy," etc. We sometimes witness instances of this sort, and we confess that we are amused at what we see and hear. The appearance of things are apt to depend on the kind of glasses you look through.

☞ A man's political record is public property, and when he appears before the people as a candidate soliciting their suffrage it is legitimate and proper for them to inquire what that record has been. So long as a man remains a private citizen, making no pretensions as a public adviser and is not seeking positions of trust or honor, it would be a gross impertinence to make invidious reference to him in a public journal; but when he mounts the rostrum to harangue the people and asks for their votes he assumes a position, one of the penalties of which is the severe ordeal of criticism. The people demand that his record be made public, and it is the journalists duty to accede to that demand so far as is consistent with the decencies and proprieties of honorable journalism. In these columns every man's private character is held sacred, but we repeat that his record as a politician and public man is public property.

☞ The Anti-Convention candidates in these Eastern counties are all doing their duty. Capt. GRANDY in this county is making capital and telling speeches. In Perquimans Hon. J. W. ALBERTSON is completely demolishing the opposition in every speech he makes. He has few equals and no superior on the stump. In Chowan AUG. M. MOORE, Esq., is making a decided impression and will carry that county. In Dare Hon. J. W. ETHERIDGE has rolled up both sleeves and is striking heavy blows against the revolutionists. In Currituck THOMAS C. HUMPRIES, Esq., is badly scaring the Conventionists, and will send us a good report on election day in favor of peace, law and order. In Camden that sturdy old veteran WM. J. MORRISETT, Esq., is quietly but effectively at work against those who would overturn the government to secure their selfish and partisan ends. On the whole the outlook is encouraging—the prospect cheering.

☞ We learn that the United States owns eight hundred shares of stock, equal to about two-fifths of the entire amount in the Dismal Swampt Canal.

☞ The Convention Candidates are on the stump before the people. In this county the appointments appear in this issue of our paper. Let all the people go and hear them. Remember they speak in this City on Saturday.

☞ The Steamer "Hertford" plying between this place and Nag's Head is doing splendidly. Capt. BAGLEY has made her equal to a new Boat. He understands his businesss. Under his care and management everything is safe.

☞ In answer to numerous correspondents we can say that from the most reliable reports we can get from all parts of the State the Convention will be voted down by a large majority. In the meantime let every man do his duty and swell that majority as much as possible.

☞ Sheriff WOOD has broken ground for a new building on Road St., South of the establishment of G. W. BELL. It is to be of brick. That is right. Let all the new buildings in the City be put up of like material. They are safer from fire.

☞ We need a new Court House and jail. Our County records, our titles to our property, and all our public and official documents are insecure, and as for the Jail, it is not in a condition to keep prisoners determined to escape. The new Court House is not a party question. It is one in which all are interested. We hope the people will consult their true interests and vote for it.

☞ We regret that we do not have room for the proceedings of the spirited meeting at Belvidere on Saturday last. We regret this the more because the resolutions adopted are among the best we have seen in this canvas. The discussion between Messrs. ALBERTSON and SKINNER was ably conducted, especially so on the part of Mr. ALBERTSON. Belvidere will give a heavy vote against Convention.

☞ The "season" at Nag's Head has fairly begun. It is destined to become one of the most popular Summer resorts in the United States. Those who visit it cannot resist the attraction of the soft clear skies, its healing breezes, its charming beeches, the unrivaled beauty of its sun rise and sunset, and especially the intelligence and graceful refinement of the society annually congregating there. With a larger Hotel and other improvements Nag's Head will be a delightful place for the summer months.

OUR LOCAL FORT-FOLIO.

Mean time—when ones note falls due. Live within your means—that is if you have any. The new name for tight boots—corn cribs. A text for sinners—*pre*text. A clerical error—the want of a (c) curacy. "Pacific mails"—quiet husbands. A "storied earn"—the novelists pay. A bad policy—one that has run out. A "poor" place—the Alms house. Forgers to be encouraged—our Blacksmiths. Made for Adam's express company—Eve. Something you are sure to have at your finger's ends—nails.—Our Devil was at church the other night, and he says—the fewer the words the better the prayer. A crystal wedding—marrying a glass eye. A paper wedding—marrying an editor. If you have a good thing—advertise it. Most of the lovers of our town like to be alone—with their "sweethearts" of course. Still busy—the workmen on the streets. An improvement—the new portico in front of Mr. ROBERTS on Water St. Going up several new buildings. Going down—the old Market House. Nice—Brower's new paving brick.

Business Locals.

Everybody seems to be going to Nag's Head. The season has fairly opened and every Boat is loaded with passengers. Ample arrangements are made at the Hotel—the "Alexina House"—to accommodate a large number of boarders and visitors. The table is supplied with all the delicacies of the season. Mr. WHEEDBE is doing his "level best" to make his guests feel at home, and he is practically demonstrating that he "knows how to keep a hotel." Let all who desire a good time, enjoy healthful recreation with real pleasure, "pack up" and go. The Boat makes it regular trips down on Thursdays and Saturdays, returning on Fridays and Mondays.

The English language is very expressive yet it fails to convince our citizens that a Convention is needed and is, in fact, nowhere when we would describe the excelence of that flour manufactured and selling at the Little Mill "around the corner," for, when nicely baked, the inner man, only, of those who partake can fully realize it.

D. SPENCER, & Co.
Corner Shepard St., and Factory Avenue.

Still at it—we mean our friend Keaton—waiting on his customers and selling them store goods of all kinds as cheap as ever, and keeping them all feeling in a good humor. It is a pleasure to deal with such a man.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE REPUBLICAN NOMINATING CONVENTION OF ELIZABETH CITY TOWNSHIP.—Pursuant to notice the Republicans of Elizabeth City Township met at the Court House on Monday evening, July 24th, to nominate candidates for Township officers. The meeting was called to order by C. W. Grandy, Esq., Chairman of the Executive Committee, when on motion Dr. P. John was called to the Chair and B. Frank Keaton appointed Secretary.

On motion the Chair appointed a Committee consisting of Miles Conmander, J. H. Miskell, H. B. Coleman, Silas Randall and Charles Fearing, to report nominations. During the absence of the Committee Wm. H. Smith, Esq., was called on for a speech. He responded in a clear, calm and logical address of over an hour, dwelling especially upon the importance of the people of this State frowning down every movement calculated to close up the avenues to imigration and capital that otherwise would rapidly come here to help us develope and build up this beautiful and fertile country. On the conclusion of his speech the Committee on nominations reported the following ticket.

For Magistrates: Geo. W. Cobb, T. A. Sykes, Charles W. Smith, Hugh Cale, Jabez Pritchard, Wm. Krauss, and B. F. Keaton.

For School Committee: Whitman Lane, Arthur L. Jones and Charles Guirkin.

For Clerk: Dr. Joseph Commander.

For Constable: J. H. Miskell.

On motion the report was received and unanimously adopted. Calls were then made for Hon. C. L. Cobb, who came forward and delivered a most effective speech upon the issues now before the people of North Carolina, keeping the closest attention of the audience, who were anxious to hear him, for over an hour. His arguments were clear and conclusive and his points unanswerable. He was followed by Capt. C. W. Grandy, our Anti-Convention Candidate, who for a half hour poured "hot shot" into the camp of the opposition and kept the audience in a perfect uproar of laughter and good humor.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

B. F. KEATON, Sec'y.

Ca Sa.

Have our people forgotten the old Ca Sa Law, when a man under the old Constitution could arrest his debtor and thrust him into a loathsome prison until he paid the money? This is abolished in Sec. 16 Bill of Rights. "There shall be no imprisonment for debt in this State, except for fraud." Give them a Convention and they will soon show you how to get rid of the "Homestead" Law. They say that they are restricted from interfering with that, but they have not restricted themselves from re-adopting the Ca Sa Law; and how long would a man lay in Jail until he would be willing to surrender and convey away his "Homestead" or any thing else to procure his release from Jail, and return to the bosom of his family. Many men gave all they had to procure a Substitute in the late war. They would go further to save themselves from imprisonment and shame.—Exchange.

The name of Chief-Justice Thompson of Pennsylvania is mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination for President next year.

If we could read the secret history of our enemies, we should find in each man's life sorrow and suffering enough to disarm all hostility.

It is said that the Hon. A. H. Stephens has gained nine pounds in weight. The Louisville Courier Journal fears that when he weighed himself last he had one of his editorials in his pocket.

Many men attend the gospel to secure themselves reputations, business or friendship. This is trading in divine things. And what is the hope of the hypocrite, though he has gained, when God taketh away his soul?

Moderation is the great secret of government. To be always dissatisfied is the way to lose all authority and respect. The consequence of those people is most cheerfully acknowledged who seem least forward to assert it.

A link-boy asked Dr. Burgess, the preacher, if he would have a light. "No child;" says the doctor. I am one of the lights of the world." "I wish, then" replied the boy, "you were hung at the end of our alley, for it is a very dark one."

A bachelor says that all he should ask for in a wife would be a good temper, health, good understanding agreeable physiogomy, figure, good connection, domestic habits, resources of amusement, good spirits, conversational talents, elegant manners—money.

Here is thes last shoemaker, beyond which let no cobbler go. A lady complaining that the soles of her shoes were too thick, the artful manufacturer said to her, "is that your only objection to them, madam?" "It is," the lady replied. "Well, then, madam, if you take them I think I can assure you you will find that objection gradually wear away."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A FEW WORDS TO THE LADIES.—Many ladies, particularly mothers nursing, complain of a tired, listless feeling, or complete exhaustion, on arising in the morning. On the wife and mother devolves the responsibility or regulating the duties of the household. Her cares are numerous, and the mental as well as the physical powers are frequently called into requisition. She often finds her slightest occupation a weary task and existence a burden, while at the same time she has no regular disease. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, if resorted to at this period, will prove an unfailing remedy for this annoying lassitude. The effects of this potent agent are soon seen in the rosy check and elastic step of the head of the family, as with restored health and revived spirits she takes her accustomed place in the family circle. If this friend in need be regularly used, those depressing symptoms will never be complained of, and not only would lassitude not be experienced, but many diseases following its advent be avoided. As a medical agent it has no equal, while its pleasing flavor and healthful effects have made it a general favorite. It is free from all properties calculated to impair the system, and its operations are at once mild, soothing and efficient. All who have used the Bitters attest its virtues and commend it to use.

AGRICULTURAL, HORTICULTURAL AND DOMESTIC MATTERS.

A Great Farmer's Maxims.

The successful life of Mr. Jacob Strawn, the prince of American farmers, is attributed to the close observance of the following maxims, originated by himself:

When you wake up, do not roll over, but roll out. It will give you time to ditch all your sloughs, break them, harrow them, and sow them with timothy and red clover. One bushel of clover to two bushels of timothy is enough.

Make your fencing high and strong, so that it will keep cattle and pigs out.

If you have brush, make your lots secure, and keep your hogs from the cattle, for if the corn is kept clean they will eat it better than if it is not.

Be sure to get your hands to bed by seven o'clock—they will rise early by force of circumstances. Pay a hand; if he is a poor hand, all you promise him; if he is a good hand pay him a little more; it will encourage him to do still better.

Always feed your hands as well as you do yourself, for the laboring men are the bone and sinew of the land, and ought to be well treated.

I am satisfied that getting up early, industry and regular habits are the best medicine ever prescribed far health.

When rainy, bad weather comes, so that you can't work out doors, cut, split and haul your wood.

Make your racks, fixing your fence or a gate that is off its hinges, or weather-boarding your barn where the wind has blown the siding off, or patch the roof of your barn or house.

Study your interest closely, and do not spend any time in electing Presidents, Senators and other smaller officers, or talking of hard times when spending your time in whittling store boxes, etc.

Take your time and make calculations, don't do things in a hurry, but do them at the right time, and keep your mind as well as your body employed.

The Berkshire Hog.

The Berkshires are a very popular and profitable breed of swine. They are a good size, fatten well in proportion to their feed, and are excellent breeders. No one will go amiss by purchasing a Berkshire.

A very great change has been produced in this breed by frequent crossings; and most likely a decided improvement. Youat and Martin, say: The Berkshire pigs belong to the large class, and are distinguished by their color, which is a sandy or whitish brown, spotted regularly with dark brown or black spots and by their having no pictures [illegible] bristles. The hair is long, thin, and somewhat curly, and looks rough; the ears are fringed with long hair round the outer edge. The body is thick, compact, and well formed; the legs short, the sides broad, the head well set on, the snout short, the jowl thick, the ears erect, the skin exceedingly thin in texture, the flesh firm and well flavored, and the bacon very superior.

The Berkshires are not generally of an enormous size. Their ordinary weight will average 250 to 300 pounds, and some at two years old will weigh 400 pounds. This is the most convenient and profitable weight for general use.

There have been numerous crosses made on this breed. The principal ones with the Chinese and Neapolitan swine, by which an improvement in the flavor of the flesh, the color, and the size, has been attained. A cross with the Suffolk is much approved, and probably makes the finest animals of any imported into this country. They are hardly, fatten well, have short smooth hair, and are a beautiful black and white color.

GALLED HORSES' SHOULDERS.—There are few things more painful to look at than a poor horse wincing and balking at every root which comes against the plough, while the ploughman is slashing him with the line and goading him into a possion, for his restiveness under the torture of a sore shoulder.

In using a new collar it is best always to wet it thoroughly before you put it on the animal. A few hours' use will give it a set to the peculiar formation of the shoulder, which it will always keep. The same collar should always be used for the same horse. There is no worse practice than shifting gear upon a plantation. Every horse should have his own gear, and it should never be used for another, and every laborer should be held responsible for its condition. We prefer the common bark or shuck collar to any other kind. If the shoulder should become galled, a pad of cotton may be put on so as to keep the pressure off the sore. A little neat's foot oil applied every day will heal it up. It is best, however, when the first appearance of a bruise is noted, to apply spirits of turpentine. But it is better still to prevent such mischief. We always keep at the stable a bottle of vinegar, with a few spoonfuls of alum dissolved in it, and require the shoulders to be washed with it when the horse comes in at noon and night. If it be inconvenient to use this solution, a strong decoction of oak bark will answer a very good purpose. This astringent preparation toughens the shoulder and prevents the galling, and if a little oil should be applied when the galled part first appears, the animal can be worked and the sore healed perfectly in a little while.—Rural Carolinian.

TO CLEAN OIL PAINTED SURFACES.—Take a piece of soft flannel, put it in warm water, and squeeze it till it feels dry: next dip it on some very finely pulverized French chalk, and rub the painted surface with the flannel; the effect will be the removal of all the dust, greasy matter and dirt; the surface is next washed with a clean sponge and water, and dried with a piece of wash-leather. This method does not injure the paint like soap, and produces a very good result.

It frequently happens that painters splash plate or other glass windows when they are painting the sills. Soda molted in very hot water and applied with a soft flannel will entirely remove the paint.

REMEDY FOR SICK FOWLS.—The following is communicated by a friend who assures us of its efficacy.—Ed.

If the fowl be over-fed, or, having eaten something deleterious, take 1 teaspoonful powdered rhubarb and mix it with 2 teaspoonfuls ground flax seed; make 6 pills by the addition of a little lard or butter; give 2 in the morning and 2 in the evening of the first day, and the remainder on the morning of the second day. In case of fever, which will be known by the heated condition of the head, 1 teaspoonful powdered saltpetre mixed with 2 teaspoonfuls ground flaxseed, are to be made into 6 pills, to be administered like the preceding.

Flat Swamp, Martin County, can probably boast of one of the oldest persons in the State. There lives in that section a negro woman, who has reached the advanced age of 108 years, in full possession of all her faculties, and walks about the neighborhood with the greatest ease. She retains a perfect recollection of the Revolutionary war, and is fond of relating many incidents connected with that struggle.

Queen Elizabeth always displayed her worst temper in her best clothes—she was dreadfully ruffled then.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2,000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotauk county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3,000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3,000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15,000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3,500, $7,00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albomarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., (which cost over $15,000 two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, poplar, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultivation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 370 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A tract of valuable land, containing 356 acres, with fine two story dwelling containing 9 rooms and cook-room. Servant's house with 3 rooms, large barns and stables, all necessary and convenient out-houses, 3 tenant-houses near town, and immediately on the River. About 100 acres of this land is in fine wood and timber, balance in a fine state of cultivation. It has 8,000 grape vines one year old, 3,500 peach, apple and dwarf pear trees, five acres in strawberries which yielded an immence profit this year, ten acres in Lawton and other rare varieties of black-berries, 15 to 20,000 young peach trees with other choice fruits too numerous to mention. This farm has a public road on one side, and the River on the other, where strangers come daily to the landings to receive the fruits and vegetables, and carry them down to Norfolk, Baltimore, Phila., or New York. The land is finely adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, and all other field crops.

The owner of this farm offers to sell in tracts, to suit purchasers, say in 50 to 100 acre tracts, and at prices ranging from 35 to $80 per acre, according to location, buildings, &c.

There is also on this farm a fine fishery, where a seine 1,000 yards long, and 20 feet deep is hauled every Spring. Herring, Shad, Rock-fish, Sturgeon and other valuable fish, are caught by thousands at every draw of the seine. And the profits are frequently large. This fishery of itself is worth nearly as much as is charged for the whole property. The terms will be liberal. This is probably the finest opportunity offered any where for a profitable investment.

☞ Fishery has an office, and two houses for hands besides fish house. Then some 500 to 1,000 loads of best fish manure on hand, besides over 5,000 loads of compost made ready for use. This goes with the farm.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE LAND AND LUMBER COMPANY having a large amount of Real Estate of their own to dispose of, and their business having increased to such an extent, they think it prudent to decline acting further as Commission Agents for the sale of lands belonging to others. They will however be glad at all times to furnish every facility to parties coming to Elizabeth City with a desire to look at the country and make purchases if they find it to their interest to do so.

The following list of property, owned by the Company, is offered for sale on the most reasonable terms. Their object now is to acquire a larger monied capital for the purpose of further developing their unimproved lands and carrying out their original design of increasing the Commerce and General Trade of Elizabeth City.

As there are others in the Commission Business, parties are referred to their advertisement for further information.

ELIZABETH CITY.

The following desirable list of Properties in Elizabeth City are offered at very reduced prices for cash or on time payments at rates which make any of them excellent investments for capitalists. We feel confident that this City is destined to become a large place and property will advance rapidly. Emigration is now tending Southernward and the feeling is in universal favor toward Elizabeth City.

A large two-story dwelling known as the Parsonage, with fine double Piazza, front and back, large out kitchen, stables, carriage house, with 17 acres of ground well enclosed. This ground is all within the corporation of the City, and is well situated to lay out in building lots and make out of it ten fold the price asked for it.

A two-story dwelling containing ten rooms, 10,000 gallon cistern and all necessary out-houses, with large lot. Situated on Main Street. A Vacant Lot no better located and not so large as this was sold recently for $1600 cash.

A large brick store house and wharf situate on Water street; in E. City, comprising three lots with 400 feet of water front, permanently wharfed for the accommodation of large vessels. There is erected on these lots a large two-story brick building, 50 by 80 feet, well fitted up for a wholesale or retail trade at present occupied by the "Yankee Store."

A large wood store on west side of Water street 36 by 60, two stories high, being one of the best stands on Water street for merchandizing.

A House and Lot on Riverside Avenue. House 20ft front by 50 ft deep. Containing eight rooms with Pantry and Cellar, all well finished, modern style, and having all necessary out buildings. The lot contains a front of 400 ft, and would be a good location for a large shop or foundry as one whole side fronts on the water.

Also a large number of Wharf Lots, Mill Lots and Vacant Lots at very low prices, some of which are enumerated below. The Wharf Lots are 200ft deep and will be sold to any size desired along the River. Among them are some most eligible situations for Store Houses, Mills and Manufactories of any kind as there is a fine harbor immediately in front of them, having 30ft of water, sufficient for vessels of any capacity. Along Pennsylvania Avenue are offered some of the finest and choicest lots, for dwellings in town at prices varying according to location. This will be the finest street in town, is 80 feet wide, size of Lot 100ft front by 200ft deep. There are now a number of first class residences being erected on this street. Immediately in the vicinity of these Lots the Company have erected a large Planing Mill, Sash, Blind and Door Factory at a cost of near $20,000 and also their Saw Mill at a cost of near $15,000. That now is the proper time to invest in those Lots there can be no doubt, as they will double in value in a very short time. Lots not near so good as these, are now selling in other parts of the City at more than double the price asked for these.

VACANT LOTS.

Lots Nos. 150, 155, 158, 161, 163, 165, 167, 170. 172. 175, 178, 180, 182. 185, 187. 190' 193, 195, 198 and 200, situate on Pennsylvania avenue, in the new extension of Elizabeth City, all choice lots, intended for the better class of residences. MILL LOTS.

Four Mill-Lots situated on Knobb's Creek, so that logs can be taken from the creek to the mill. These lots have 200 feet each of water front, and over 600 feet deep to Mill street, and are choice sites. The purchaser will also have the right of storage for logs in the boom.

PASQUOTANK COUNTY.

The Land and Lumber Company also offer for sale, one thousand acres of their timbered land along the Main Road leading from Elizabeth City to Hertford and Edenton, Said land heavily wooded, soil very rich and about four miles from Elizabeth City. This land will be sold in lots to suit purchasers and at the low price often dollars per acre.

They also offer a tract of three thousand acres in Lots to suit purchasers, near the Pasquotank River, ten miles from Elizabeth City and three miles from South Mills. This land is heavily set with wood and also has upon it a vast amount of saw timber, and has a most excellent soil. This is a fine location for a small Colony. There is now a Public Road running directly through it. This tract is offered at the low price of eight dollars per acre if sold to one party, or at only a fraction more if divided into small lots.

The Company will also sell their farm of 250 acres two miles from Elizabeth City. 125 acres cleared and under good cultivation, well fenced, having upon it two dwelling houses, one new and the necessary out buildings wanted on a farm, and will be sold on very reasonable terms.

Also another farm one mile from Elizabeth City containing one hundred acres, between thirty and forty acres cleared and under cultivation, the balance is now being cut off and is nearly ready to be cleared up and cultivated. This property is very desirable being so near the City though for reasons first given will be sold at a very low price.

We have a finely timbered tract of land situated on the Albemarle Sound twenty miles from Elizabeth City, containing 124 acres. Good timber land bordering on the water is valuable both for wood as well as saw timber as water transportation affords a good margin for wood, say one dollar per cord. This will also make good farm land—will be sold for one thousand dollars.

Also one other tract of land containing 154 acres situated immediately on the Pasquotank River ten miles from Elizabeth City, valuable for wood, and is excellent farming lands, would be sold for six dollars per acre.

GATES COUNTY.

The Land & Lumber Company have a tract of 350 acres of timbered land one half mile from Chowan River and three miles from Winton the county seat of Hertford county. This body of land is well timbered and will be sold at the low price of three dollars per acre.

☞ The most direct and cheapest route is to go to Baltimore by N. C. R. R., then Bay Line steamer to Norfolk, Va., then steamer to Elizabeth City, N. C.

DR. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Has made the most astonishing cures; so quick, so rapid are the changes the body undergoes, under the influence of this truly wonderful medicine, that

EVERY DAY AN INCREASE IN FLESH AND WEIGHT IS SEEN AND FELT.

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine, and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphili, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumorous discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Theum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges. Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure—a cure is certain; for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and flesh and weight increasing.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excels all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Skin diseases; but it is the only positive cure for KIDNEY & BLADDER COMPLAINTS, Urinary, and Womb diseases, Gravel, diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinuence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all casee where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust, deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the Small of the Back and along the Loins.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects. They are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequaled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of what ever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the System in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers.
